

Rainbow Thoughts

The weight of endless thoughts aligned
Take away colour, gone rainbow thoughts
Birds flew away the dreams down south
Spirits ghostly down below

May worldly worries
Slide from your shoulders
May night-time take away the pain
Let daylight scare away your fears
And gentle strokes enlight your soul

Tangible things are easy to grasp
Write down thoughts for take away
Black on white, yet not to touch
Carve them in to feel for real

May worldly worries
Slide from your shoulders
May night-time take away the pain
Let daylight scare away your fears
And gentle strokes enlight your soul

Rainbow thoughts caught solid
Formed and moulded to art
Easily grasped, yet unreachable
For those who lost their touch

May worldly worries
Slide from your shoulders
May night-time take away the pain
Let daylight scare away your fears
And gentle strokes enlight your soul
